Established in 1972, the Arab Community Centre of Toronto is a focal point for all Arab and non-Arab communities to find an outlet for settlement and social services. In 2021 it received a TAC grant for YOUmation, a virtual animation training project for low-income Arab and African refugee/newcomer youth between the ages 13-24. Over the course of six-months participants were engaged in intensive workshops and mentorship sessions and created animation works for a virtual exhibition. The program provided opportunities for participants to gain new skills and create, while also building a community.
